Did You See ~
WHITE SPIRE

At Any of the Major
 Gladiolus Shows this Past Summer

We carefully chose EIGHT of the biggest and finest Shows from all over the United States and then either sent WHITE SPIRE to them or took it ourselves. Our confidence in this new variety was richly rewarded in that it NEVER FAILED to win a prize, not to mention the gratifying comment of judges and spectators.

The petals, chamois-like in substance, are a glistening white completely unblemished by markings of any kind. The florets are perfectly placed and open eight or more at once of five-inch span. The long, tapering spike head will carry eighteen to twenty-four buds. A tall growing variety, the tips of the spikes stand four to five feet from the ground.

The World Premiere of ~ REFLECTION

Reflection

(Kinyon)

This is the first year for this variety, but we have grown it here and were so very much impressed that we took it with us to the Michigan and New England Gladiolus Shows this past summer. It caused such general praise and comment that we feel justified in marketing it as the finest LAVENDER anywhere on the market. There are absolutely no blotches, flecks, or lines to mar its clear lavender beauty. It has been remarked that when several spikes of REFLECTION are grouped they give the effect of a billowing cloud in the sky. The florets are almost perfectly set, being straight forward and close together. Growing to the average height of five feet in eighty-five days, it opens at least six well-placed florets at once. One of the lightest of lavender shades in the field, REFLECTION has the peculiar quality of deepening in color when brought indoors.
